

Prospective Vendor Letter

Please accept our invitation to partner in our upcoming Exhale Summit.

The mission of our event experience is to support women in cultivating community, learning strategies to cope with stress, evolving self-awareness, and implementing ongoing preventative action to maintain wellness.

Research indicates that 40% of Black, Indigenous, and People of Color (BIPOC) women are the head of household in comparison to 9% of White women. Though nearly twice as many African-American and Latino women report stress compared to their White peers, BIPOC women are less likely to seek mental health care. The Exhale Summit seeks to address these staggering statistics by creating a weekend retreat, fostering ongoing community connections, and offering each participant a wellness resource guide. As a vendor, you will be able to contribute to this meaningful effort.

This is an annual event. Your participation as a vendor will contribute to +200 women having an ongoing space to breathe and rejuvenate.

In participating as a vendor, we ask that you provide one (1) door prize to be entered into a raffle and marketing collateral and/or free samples to be included in conference bags (qty. 225). We also invite you to bring items for purchase. You may choose to be an onsite vendor or a virtual vendor.
